

PERMISSION TO DISTRIBUTE TRANSCRIPT DATA
THROUGH TALKBANK
Carnegie Mellon University

Carnegie Mellon University is participating in a data-sharing program known as TalkBank that was established through federal and foundation grants. For the program to function properly, many contributors will be asked to and will give permission for their work to be made available to other researchers. With a full understanding of the aforementioned, I hereby give permission to Brian MacWhinney, Director of the Center of the Child Language Data Exchange System at Carnegie Mellon University, to make and circulate electronic copies of the language transcripts and media that I describe below. These copies may be distributed to scholars and other responsible parties. I warrant that this use of the data is in accord with Human Subjects review procedures at my institution. I also warrant that there is no copyright restriction over the transcripts and media being circulated. Any further restrictions that I wish to place on the use of these data are listed under (2) below. I do not hold Brian MacWhinney or Carnegie Mellon responsible for the enforcement of these further restrictions and indemnify and render harmless both Brian MacWhinney and Carnegie Mellon University against any actions at law or in equity or in similar courts of any jurisdictions arising from violations of these restrictions.

1. General description of the data set.

The dataset includes video and audio recordings and orthographic transcription of 23 children aged 2;6-3;6 in a naturalistic play setting with either a parent or grandparent. Each recording lasts approximately 30 minutes. What sets this data apart is the fact that each child is recorded twice, with the second recording occurring within 2-7 days of the original recording. Children were recorded with the same interlocutor and in the same setting with the same toys. This means that the language produced can be assessed for reliability.

2. Restrictions to be placed on the use of the data:
